THE INFANT'S APPEAL.

A BRIEF BUT THRILLING SKETCH. From the Columbian and Great West. In the year 1836, the inhabitants living in district bordering on Rock River, in the northern part of the State of Illinois, were much in- CATION. censed by the depredations of a band of horse thieves who infested that portion of the country. Every exertion had been made to discover the men engaged in this nefarious business but hitherto in vain, and valuable animals were stolen, and lost to their owners in defiance of the utmost vigilance and care.

During such a state of affairs, the citizens residing in the region of the thieves, became thoroughly excited, and were wound up to such a pitch of indignation, that a body of men were formed, called Rangers, whose explicit duty was to expunge the district of all suspicious characters, and endeavor to put a stop to the depredations of the horse thieves.

Shortly after this band had commenced operations, word was conveyed to the leader of the Rangers that a valuable horse which had been stolen the night previous, could then be found on the premises of a man named Burt, locked up in the stable. Although Burt heretofore had been looked upon as an honest and upright citizen, yet the Captain deemed it his duty to at least examine his farm and learn the truth or falsity of the report. Accordingly be summoned some half a dozen of his Rangers to meet him at a spot not far from Burt's house, and before morning, set out for the same place himself. Daylight was hardly discermble in the East, and the hazy light of coming dawn had not jet penetrated the bottom where the suspicious man resided, as the Rangers, charged with the fearful mission of life or death, silently approached, and surrounded the dwelling. Leaving three of the band to guard the entrance, the captain proceeded with the others to the stable, broke open the door, and found the missing horse as had been stated, safely stalled inside. Not a lingering doubt now remained of Burt's guilt, and with a stern determination to make such an example of him as would deter others

Rushing forward, she fell on her knees directly in front of the captain, and raising her child with arms outstretched towards him, she tutes of Medicine. exclaimed in tones that would have pierced a heart of steel:

"If you will not save him for the sake of his grey-headed sires, or the wife of his bosom, spare him in the name of God, for the sake of his infant boy!"

Another dead silence reigned like a pall over the spot; then, as though inspired by Heaven itself, the child also stretched out its little arms towards its father, and exclaimed in a voice ations performed on patients from the Infirmary lins, French and English Lawns, Ginghams A kegs and tubs, received this day, and for heard by all, the single word:

Father! The muscles of the captain's face quivered in every fibre, and the men who held the rope slowly relaxed the presure around the neck of Burt, when the infant again uttered in distinct 'Father! father!' And then, as though despairing of success, huddled into its mother's bosom, and burst into a sobbing cry. It was more than the Rangers could stand, and after a short consultation the rope was ta-
